Dear ICANN and associates,

I am interested in supporting ICANN and providing security support because I feel that the infrastructure and policies that I can assist in developing will contribute to supporting and improving critical components of the Internet. My main motivations and interests is that I continue to research security topics, teach, and believe that by supporting ICANN in this capacity I will complimenting my person goals of contributing to society in the ways I know best. I also believe that the services that DNS provide are critical parts of how business and information is carried. The service enables the opportunity to rapidly share ideas information and conduct business. These are key characteristics of improving and developing our society. In supporting and contributing to the reliability of these services I am ensuring that our society will continue to thrive. I have a deep understanding of supporting and developing security policies, educating and advising students and executives, and desire to continue to develop these skills in seeking opportunities like supporting ICANN.

Regards,

Paul Calatayud
