This request includes all such names that appear on the following lists:\n\n4.1. the short form (in English) of all country and territory names contained on the ISO 3166-1 list, as updated from time to time, including the European Union, which is exceptionally reserved on the ISO 3166-1 list, and its scope extended in August 1999 to any application needing to represent the name European Union;\n\n4.2. the United Nations Group of Experts on Geographical Names, Technical Reference Manual for the Standardization of Geographical Names, Part III Names of Countries of the World; and\n\n4.3. the list of United Nations member states in 6 official United Nations languages prepared by the Working Group on Country Names of the United Nations Conference on the Standardization of Geographical Names.\n\n

Consultation

Please describe with specificity your consultations with the community, experts and or others. What were the quantity, nature and content of the consultations?:

Bridgestone Corporation is a Registry Operator of .BRAND TLDs and is thus one of the participants of the community of .BRAND Registry Operators and applicants. The Registry Operator has carried out consultations with other .BRAND registry operators and applicants in Japan about the release of country and territory names at the second level and has arrived to a conclusion that there is demand for the introduction of these names both for the registry operators as providers and for the end users who will benefit from using geo-localized content that is easy to navigate to and that is protected by the enhanced security measures .BRAND registry operators have in place. \n\nThe Registry Operator has also consulted its backend registry services provider. Furthermore, it has undertaken extensive research that took into consideration the historical availability of country and territory names at the second level of the so-called "legacy" and sponsored TLDs, GAC discussions on the matter (including March 27, 2014 Singapore Communiqué that specifically states that GAC sees no major concerns in regards to brand owners applying for an approval of the release of country and territory names or 2-letter and character codes), as well as the previously submitted similar RSEP requests for the release of country and territory names and public comments to them. \n\nThe RSEP request made by NeuStar, Inc. on August 21, 2014 refers to broad consultations that Brand Registry Group (BRG), a body that represents the interests of .BRAND TLDs, carried out with GAC and ICANN in relation to the usage of country and territory names at the second level. The request by NeuStar, Inc. received comments, all of which were in support of the release, and that stated that such introduction would improve user experience, would not cause any known confusion, but, contrarily, would be fully in accordance with the objectives of the new gTLD program that are consumer trust, choice and competition in the global context. The Registry Operator is making this request for the release of country and territory names at the second level as an endorsement of the views publicized in the previous RSEP requests of the same nature and the comments to them. \\\r\\l\\n\\l\\l\\r\\l\\l\\n\\r\\l\\n\\r\\l\\n

d. Were consultations with end users appropriate? Which groups were consulted? What were the nature and content of these consultations?:

.bridgestone and .firestone TLDs are intended as closed .BRAND Registries with the Registry Operator, its Affiliates and Trademark Licensees acting as the registrants for all country and territory names labels within .bridgestone and .firestone TLDs. We trust that the end-users will benefit from being able to navigate to these easily distinguishable and trusted domain names and take advantage of their localized content. Specifically, it is hard to imagine that any other type of naming at the second level could be a more potent way to describe, for instance, the Registry Operator's services in France than france.BRAND. The naming clearly serves its purpose and fulfills the expectation of the user. \\\r\\l\\l\\n\\r\\l\\n\\r\\l\\n

The Registry Operator, its Affiliates and partners fully endorse the introduction of this service. It is believed that the end-users, the existing and potential customers of the Registry Operator, will highly benefit from the ability to effectively use the localized content associated with the geographic .bridgestone and .firestone domain names.
