Sub: Details of documents within ICANN regarding implementation of NETmundial Principles and documents modified within ICANN as a result of the same

It is our understanding that ICANN is one of the founding members of the NETmundial Initiative. And hence, it has been credited in the public forum for championing the Initiative.<sup>1</sup>

Mr. Fadi Chehade, CEO and President of ICANN, has maintained that it is time for the global community to act and implement the Principles set-forth in the Initiative.<sup>2</sup>

ICANN itself, in response to one of our earlier requests, has acknowledged that “NETmundial Principles are high-level statements that permeate through the work of any entity – particularly a multistakeholder entity like ICANN”.<sup>3</sup>

We, therefore, request for all existing documents within ICANN which represent its efforts to implement the NETmundial Principles within its working. Additionally, we would also want to request for all the documents which were modified as the result of ICANN's support of the NETmundial Initiative, highlighting the modification so made.

We look forward to the receipt of this information within the stipulated period of 30 days. Please feel free to contact us in the event of any doubts regarding our queries.

Thank you very much.

Centre for Internet and Society (CIS) is a non-partisan, not-for-profit research organization based out of Bangalore and Delhi, India. Since 2008, CIS has performed groundbreaking research in technology and the law. Our research competence extends across free and open source software, open data, open government and right to information, accessibility and rights of disabled persons, intellectual property, access to knowledge, privacy and Internet governance. We are currently involved, inter alia, in a research project in Internet governance, where we are studying transparency, accountability and effectiveness of Internet governance institutions. Our project is generously funded by the MacArthur Foundation.
