

From: Garry Lilburn
Date: Friday, March 9, 2018 at 06:20
To: "gdpr@icann.org"
Subject: [Ext] whois data

Hi,

I just wanted to add my commentary to the upcoming GDPR laws affecting the EU area.

GDPR is to allow for privacy however should not, in any way, protect criminals.

As an ex-law enforcement officer and know a cyber analyst/researcher I can see that icaan proposals to block access to registrant details will only serve to assist phishers, money launderers, malware distributers and other criminals to evade detection and prosecution.

Please can consideration be given to allow access to registered cyber researchers as well as law enforcement

Best regards
Garry

Garry Lilburn
CISSP. CEH. | Cyber Defence Alliance – Cyber Analyst