13 COUNTY OF PINAL

14 George Kelly and George Kelly as 15 slingfantasy.com, slingfantasy.net,

16
17 Plaintiff,

18 v.

19 ICANN (Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers) Göran Marby its president, and CEO And John Doe's 1-15, 20
21 Defendants.

Case No. S-1100-CV-201700918

DEFENDANTS' RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFF'S MOTION TO QUASH
DEFENDANTS MOTION TO DISMISS
AND MOTION TO QUIT

22
23
24
25
26

1 Defendants the Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers (“ICANN”) and
2 its President and Chief Executive Officer, Göran Marby, hereby respond to Plaintiff’s “Motion
3 to Quash Defendants’ Motion to Dismiss and Motion to Quit” (“Motion to Quash/Quit”).¹

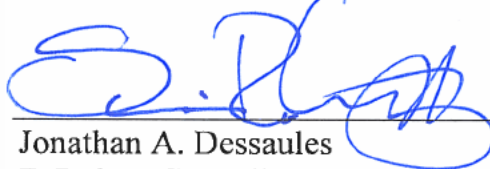

4 Plaintiff’s Motion to Quash/Quit is procedurally and substantively defective, for several 5 reasons. First, Plaintiff filed an opposition to ICANN’s and Mr. Marby’s Motion to Dismiss for 6 Lack of Personal Jurisdiction (“Motion to Dismiss”) on July 29, 2017, making Plaintiff’s
7 Motion to Quash/Quit, which seeks to further respond to the Motion to Dismiss, an 8 impermissible, supplemental response memorandum forbidden by the Arizona Rules of Civil 9 Procedure. See Arizona Rules of Civil Procedure 7.1(a)(3) (allowing a respondent to a motion
10 one response memorandum only). Second, a motion to quash is not the correct procedural 11 vehicle for responding to a motion to dismiss. Id. (allowing a party opposing a motion to file a 12 responsive memorandum only). Third, the contention in Plaintiff’s Motion to Quash/Quit that 13 the case law cited in the Motion to Dismiss is inapplicable because those courts did not “have a 14 mandate given by an agency or the Federal US government specifically to have some sort of 15 domain over certain activities of each person involved with the internet” (Motion to Quash/Quit 16 at 1:16-19), is baseless. The authorities cited in the Motion to Dismiss arise from courts fully 17 authorized to issue the opinions they issued. Fourth, Plaintiffs’ claim that the Motion to Dismiss 18 was untimely is without merit, and is entirely unsupported by fact. On June 10, 2017, the 19 parties stipulated to a 30-day extension of time to respond to Plaintiffs’ Complaint, as set forth
20 in Attachment A hereto, making a response to Plaintiff’s Complaint due on July 19, 2017, which 21 is the date on which ICANN and Mr. Marby filed their Motion to Dismiss. Moreover, Plaintiff
22 did not raise any timeliness objection in his opposition to the Motion to Dismiss and therefore 23 waived any such argument.

25 _____
26 ¹ Defendants’ response to Plaintiff’s motion is a limited appearance for purposes of seeking to dismiss this action based on lack of personal jurisdiction and does not in any way constitute a waiver of Defendants’ challenge to personal jurisdiction in Arizona.

1 Despite the deficiencies associated with Plaintiff's Motion to Quash/Quit, ICANN and 2 Mr. Marby do not oppose the portion of Plaintiff's Motion to Quash/Quit that "asks to 3 discontinue its action in this court" (Motion to Quash/Quit at 1:27-29), and they respectfully
4 request that such a dismissal be granted. ICANN and Mr. Marby, however, reserve all rights
5 and arguments to challenge any future re-filing of Plaintiff's claims in any jurisdiction.

Yes I agree, it was nice chatting with you, it's about time there is a sensible individual involved, whether we strike a deal or not, it has been more than a pleasure dealing with you. I will agree to a 30 day extension on this matter of cv2 0170918, in hopes that an amicable solution will follow. So take this as a formal acceptance to your proposal for a time extension to answer. And in recognition of any extension let me say again, I really don't seek any vindictive harm to ICANN or any others, just positive action, so its hoped that any negativity can be avoided And in keeping it and simple and clean as to the intent herein, let me address my concerns in another note.
