ICANN59 WRAP-UP EDITION

Governmental Advisory Committee Issues ICANN59 Communiqué

The Governmental Advisory Committee (GAC) Communiqué from ICANN59 is available for review here. ICANN receives input from governments through the GAC. Its key role is to give advice to ICANN on issues of public policy, especially where there may be an interaction between ICANN activities or policies and national laws or international agreements. The GAC meets three times a year at ICANN Public Meetings, where it discusses issues with the ICANN Board of Directors and other ICANN Supporting Organizations, Advisory Committees and other groups.

ICANN59 GAC Communiqué is now available.

ICANN60 Preview

Baher Esmat, VP, Stakeholder Engagement in the Middle East, ICANN

I want to thank everyone who came to engage in four days of intensive policy discussions at ICANN59. The meeting showcased the dedication of ICANN's Supporting Organizations and Advisory Committees - and the value of cross-community collaboration.

For ICANN60, we shift locations from Africa to the Middle East. The seven-day Annual General Meeting runs from 28 October to 3 November. And for the first time, the host city will be Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates (UAE).

2017 Multistakeholder Ethos Award Honors Two Members of the Global Internet Community

ICANN is pleased to announce the recipients of the 2017 Multistakeholder Ethos Award. This year, the community evaluation panel recognized two long-time members of the ICANN community: Hiro Hotta and Patricio Poblete. The awards were presented Monday, 26 June, at ICANN59 in Johannesburg, South Africa.

The Multistakeholder Ethos Award honors members of the ICANN community who have made outstanding contributions to ICANN's multistakeholder model of Internet governance. Hiro Hotta and Patricio Poblete were selected from a list of 14 nominees as those who best demonstrate the spirit of collaboration, strongly promoting consensus. These recipients have proven their commitment to ICANN's multistakeholder model through decades of active participation and dedication.

Meet ICANN'S Complaints Officer

Krista Papac, ICANN's Complaints Officer, is here in Johannesburg this week. Her office handles complaints about things that don't fall into an existing ICANN complaints mechanism—for example, how a request has been handled, a process that appears to be broken, or insufficient handling of an issue. Krista would be happy to talk about her role, how the Complaints Office is set up, answer any questions you might have, or discuss specific complaints. If you'd like to meet Krista, just reach out to her at complaints@icann.org or stop her in the halls.

Our International Office Strategy

Göran Marby, President and CEO, ICANN

When I first joined ICANN, many of you had asked me about how we manage our offices around the world. We've now formalized this in our international office strategy so that we operate more consistently and effectively together, serving you, the global community.

We've moved from having three global hubs to having five regional offices: Los Angeles (headquarters), Brussels, Istanbul, Montevideo, and Singapore. We have engagement centers in Washington, D.C.; Geneva; Beijing; and Nairobi. We also have strategic partnerships in Asunción, Cairo, and Seoul that help us reach more stakeholders around the world.

ICANN's Open Data Initiative Early Pilot Platforms Now Available

Edward Lewis, Senior Technologist, ICANN

"Open data is publicly available data that can be universally and readily accessed, used, and redistributed free of charge. It is structured for usability and computability."

- "The Global Impact of Open Data," by Andrew Young and Stefaan Verhulst

Today, ICANN is pleased to announce the launch of the pilot program of the Open Data Initiative, which is being made available to all interested parties. This initiative consists of four different open data platforms, each of which holds several years of Registry Monthly Reports of Activity and Transactions data.

Dialogues on the Evolving Data Privacy and Protection Regulations

Akram Atallah, President, Global Domains Division, ICANN

Theresa Swinehart, Senior VP, Multistakeholder Strategy and Strategic Initiatives, ICANN

Data privacy and data protection regulations are currently undergoing developments that may impact specific areas of ICANN's work. In the past few months, we've had several discussions with the multistakeholder community about this topic. These dialogues took place in a few different forums, including ICANN58 in Copenhagen and at the Global Domains Division (GDD) Industry Summit held last month in Madrid.

Most of these discussions have been focused on the General Data Protection Regulation \(GDPR\), which was approved by the European Union (EU) Parliament and takes effect on 25 May 2018 uniformly across all EU countries. The GDPR is intended to protect all EU citizens and residents from privacy and data breaches. Further discussions with the community are needed on this topic, including determining what is within the ICANN organization's remit.

FOCUS ON ICANN FELLOWS

The Fellowship Spirit

Part Three of a Four-Part Blog Series (Read Part One and Part Two)

Janice Douma Lange, Fellowship and Newcomer Engagement Manager

Siranush Vardanyan, Fellowship Coordinator

ICANN59 is upon us and with it, the completion of the ICANN Fellowship Program 10 Year Survey that we conducted in March 2017. Survey results are posted here.

We canvassed over 600 individuals who successfully completed the program since its inception in 2007. Our goal was to understand and document their current status:

- Were they still involved in ICANN and if so, in what capacity?
- If they were no longer participating, why not, and how can we re-engage them?

DID YOU KNOW?

The Dark Web: The Land of Hidden Services

Dave Piscitello, VP of Security and Information and Communications Technologies (ICT) Coordinator, ICANN

According to Internet Live Stats, the World Wide Web passed the one billion website benchmark in 2014 and is still hovering around that figure. The publishers of these billion websites compete for search engine relevance and the attention of nearly 3.6 billion Internet users. There is another part of the Web, however, where publishers and visitors want to navigate websites and conduct business transactions in secret. This is the Dark Web, a land of hidden services, where leaving no tracks and preserving anonymity are valued over search engine rankings and web experience personalization.

Supporting Linguistic Diversity of Africa for the Internet's Top-Level Domain Names

Sarmad Hussain, Director, Internationalized Domain Name (IDN) Programs
Meikal Mumin, Member, Latin Generation Panel

Thirty different languages - that was the result of a quick poll asking the twenty participants attending the IDN Workshop to list the languages they speak. ICANN organized the workshop at the Africa Internet Summit in Nairobi on 28 May 2017. This response exemplifies the enormous linguistic diversity in Africa, where the use of several languages - or multilingualism - is the norm. There are at least 2,144 languages spoken across the continent, with individual countries such as Nigeria having as many as 520 languages. By way of comparison, 287 languages are spoken in Europe.

Good Practices for the Registration and Administration of Domain Name Portfolios (Part II)

Carlos Alvarez, Security, Stability, and Resiliency (SSR) Technical Engagement Senior Manager, ICANN

Continuing with our series on good practices for managing domain registrations (read Part I), I'd like to provide some insight into the domain registration practices of large organizations. In general, they have followed good recommendations - they provide valid email addresses for their WHOIS contacts, configure resilient name resolution service, and use EPP status codes to mitigate domain name hijacking.

An Interview with Dr. Nii Quaynor

Dr. Nii Quaynor is called the Father of the Internet in Africa. He's earned this informal title through decades of working to establish and expand the Internet on the African continent. He was the first African to serve on the ICANN Board of Directors, and has held a number of other prestigious posts. In 2007, he received the Internet Society's Jonathan B. Postel Service Award in recognition of his contributions.

In this interview, Dr. Quaynor speaks with ICANN's Brad White about the positive changes he has seen over the 11 ICANN Public Meetings held in Africa. He praises the growing diversity of the African community, which includes a broader representation from various sectors, and much larger numbers of young people.
