VDECC

Virtual DNS
Entrepreneurship Center of the Caribbean

Introducing the Entrepreneurship Center for the Caribbean Region

This month we are happy to introduce the Virtual Domain Name System (DNS) Entrepreneurship Center of the Caribbean, or simply, VDECC. This center is a space dedicated to professionals from the Caribbean region. It will serve as a knowledge and networking resource for digital business opportunities.

VDECC is a joint effort of the Caribbean Network Operators Group (CaribNOG), CANTO, the Latin American and Caribbean Country Code Top-Level Domain Association (LACTLD), and ICANN. On 19 February, we are getting together in Trinidad and Tobago to launch the center with our community and to conduct sessions on two fundamental aspects of digital presence: websites and domain names. Join us by registering your physical or remote attendance at www.vdecc.online.

We are seeking partnerships and ideas from all levels in the community to craft VDECC operations and plans. Be in touch and help us to expand this project.

Because it is virtual, VDECC will use online tools to reach out to digital industry leaders to share their messages to Caribbean communities. Topics will be organized in tracks to support best practices for experiencing the benefits of a digital presence and economy. To start, we will explore two topics: "What is a good website and domain name?" and "How to provide sustainable services with internet tools."

Join us in this journey!
