Work Items
RZERC Charter Review Update
Danielle Rutherford provided an update on the upcoming RZERC Charter Review. Danielle Rutherford stated the expectation is that RZERC will informally begin a self-assessment of its charter. The RZERC will be responsible for proposing any changes and revisions. The actual approval process is still being determined between ICANN org and ICANN Board at this time.

RZERC003 and RSSAC
Daniel Migault shared that the RSSAC Chair and Vice Chair asked him to draft questions that each root server operator (RSO) will be requested to respond to in order to help the RSSAC develop a position on RZERC003. Daniel Migault shared a draft email with questions for each recommendation with the RZERC and requested feedback. Duane Wessels suggested that the questions under Recommendation 1 were sufficient for the RSOs and the other questions were not necessary.

Topic Scoping Exercise

Tim April updated the RZERC on the status of the topic scoping survey exercise. The format for the questionnaire will be for each topic for respondents to indicate if under the current RZERC Charter if topic is in scope for the RZERC to comment on, out of scope for RZERC to comment on, or not sure if the topic is in or out of scope for RZERC. The questions will be repeated for if respondents think a topic should be included in the RZERC’s scope in a revised Charter. Finally, respondents will be able to indicate for each topic any additional parties that may be interested in the topic.

Daniel Migault asked if the topic list and survey were meant to be confidential. Geoff Huston responded that the RZERC is in the initial brainstorming stages of this exercise and the RZERC would benefit from its members submitting their own personal opinions on the survey first and seeing the results among the RZERC before soliciting input from the appointing organizations.

Tim April stated that due to time constraints in this meeting the RZERC will keep the list open to add any additional topics for the survey for another week. Then, staff will draft and distribute a survey for members to fill out before the next RZERC meeting.
